Colouring in our heaths:

Woodlark

Scientific name: Lullula arborea

What colour is the Woodlark?
The woodlark has a brown head and wings, and a cream chest and tummy. Its feet and beak are pink. It also has a white eye stripe just above each eye, and brown flecks covering the front of its chest!

Fun Facts!

- The male woodlark has a beautiful fluting song; a sure sign that spring has arrived on the heaths!
- You might see a woodlark walking around on bare ground. They will be eating up insects off the floor!
